THE MONARCHS OF WINGHAVEN

by Naila Moreira

Science and heart combine in this engaging middle grade novel, due out May 14, 2024 from Walker Books US.

This story about two lonely kids finding friendship in a natural haven they call Winghaven, as well as their efforts to save it from destruction, is full of their field illustrations and real-life notes on keeping a nature journal, studying monarchs, and bird-watching.

A story about children trying to save natural spaces, written with a poet's ear. A lovely, compelling book. —Jane Yolen, award-winning author of Owl Moon, You Nest Here with Me, and An Egret's Day
